

Sophos Hardware Promo

Extended Term for New Hardware Subscriptions

Effective October 1, 2023

Get Three Months Free for New Hardware Subscriptions

From October 1, 2023, the subscription term for any new license will start from the date the order is processed by Sophos, regardless of when the end user activates their license.

As delivery times, customs clearance, and short-term technical resource availability for installation can cause delays in the deployment of new hardware appliances, we are offering an extended term of three (3) months for Software subscriptions that are purchased together with new Hardware.

To benefit from this offering, a promo code can be applied to standard orders that include the hardware appliance and the associated subscription as two separate line items. For subscriptions sold with new hardware fulfilled through distribution stock inventory, the promo code can be applied to the new subscription order. In each case, this will extend the standard 1-, 3- and 5-year software subscription term by three (3) months at no additional cost. The subscription will continue to start on the date the order was processed by Sophos, but the extension should enable end user usage for at least the length of the purchased standard term.

Terms and Conditions:

- This promotional offer ("Promotion") is valid from October 1, 2023, until further notice from Sophos ("Promotion Period").
- The 3-month term extension is a gesture of goodwill to allow usage for the length of the purchased standard term, taking Hardware delivery/ deployment times and Sophos' new subscription start policy into consideration.
- This Promotion applies to Sophos XGS Series, Sophos Switch, and Sophos AP6 Series ("Eligible Products") in all countries where the Eligible Products are sold during the Promotion Period by an authorized distributor.
- Any renewal will fall back to the length of a standard term.
- This Promotion is only available through participating distributors and partners that are a current member of the Sophos partner program and are in good standing.

How to Use the Promo Codes

Quote 15-month SKU for the price of 12 months
